

Race Condition: happens when multiple concurrent threads try to access and modify the same memory location at the same time atomic Add: reads a value from a memory address, adds a given number to it, and writes the result back as single step ◆ atomicAdd guarantees correctness on shared addresses, at the cost of serialization. Threads queue one at a time: the more contention, the less parallelism.